OpenEdition 15,000 books program

Lisa George

***

Call for submissions for the digitisation, encoding and electronic publication of books in the humanities and social sciences

OpenEdition, the electronic resource portal, is launching a call for submissions from university presses, private publishers and learned societies publishing high quality books in the humanities and social sciences who wish to distribute a part of their catalogue in Open Access. OpenEdition offers to digitise, then publish and distribute online in Open Access all or part of publishers' book catalogue on its dedicated platform, OpenEdition Books. The program is run by the Centre for Open Electronic Publishing (Cléo), a non-profit making institution, financed by the French State. It aims to build an international library for the digital humanities, while encouraging publishers to adopt Open Access in the long term.

Joining OpenEdition Books means:

- Joining the OpenEdition ecosystem, one of the leading European open electronic publishing platforms, which includes the renowned platforms: Revues.org, Calenda and Hypotheses. Together all sites attract almost 2 million visits per month from around the Éditée par les Éditions de la Maison des sciences de l'homme avec le concours de partenaires allemands et français, la revue électronique Trivium publie des traductions d'articles. Elle se conçoit comme un instrument d'échanges, de coopération entre les communautés de recherche francophone et germanophone et de communication en sciences sociales et humaines.

Die mit Unterstützung deutscher und französischer Partner von den Éditions de la Maison des sciences de l'homme herausgegebene Online-Zeitschrift Trivium veröffentlicht Übersetzungen aus Fachzeitschriften. Sie versteht sich als Medium des Austauschs und der Kooperation zwischen deutsch- und französischsprachigen Forschungsgemeinschaften in den Geistes- und Sozialwissenschaften.

14 Le Saint-Empire à l'époque moderne

Das Alte Reich in der frühen Neuzeit

● Sous la direction de Falk Bretschneider, Guillaume Garner et Pierre Monnet

Alors que, en Allemagne, l'historiographie peut se vanter aujourd'hui des riches résultats de trois décennies de recherches intenses sur le Saint-Empire romain germanique, ce dernier reste pour la plupart des historiens français un domaine peu connu. De manière isolée, il existe toutefois en France aussi un intérêt marqué pour le Saint-Empire. Les travaux qui en résultent représentent en raison de leur approche spécifique un complément important aux recherches allemandes. Ce numéro thématique offre un aperçu jusque-là inédit d'un thème capital de l'histoire moderne allemande, aperçu qui n'a pas uniquement un ancrage national, mais profite des perspectives croisées de différentes traditions historiographiques.

Während in Deutschland in den letzten drei Jahrzehnten intensive Forschungen zur Geschichte des Heiligen Römischen Reichs deutscher Nation betrieben wurden, stellt das Alte Reich für die Mehrzahl der französischen Historiker noch immer Neuland dar. Nur vereinzelt stößt das Alte Reich auch in Frankreich auf verstärktes Interesse. Die daraus resultierenden Arbeiten stellen aufgrund ihres besonderen Blickwinkels eine wichtige Ergänzung zur deutschen Reichsforschung dar. Dieser Themenschwerpunkt gibt einen in dieser Form bislang nicht vorhandenen Einblick in ein zentrales Thema der Geschichte der frühen Neuzeit, der

Conclusion

This paper has presented a Web 3.0-driven MC-SDSS for collaborative spatial datasets making, exploring a prototypic development of the collaborative MC-SDSS using the Web 2.0 and Semantic Web approach, in which the participant's G*S-MCD* knowledge has been recognized and formalized as the core of the Semantic Web. The approach depicts the ability of ontology formally, semantically, hierarchically, and explicitly formulate the underlying knowledge required for collaborative G*S-MCD* in a machine-understandable way. The ontology integrates G*S, MCD*, and participant's datasets making knowledge elements associated with the datasets problem domain in a shared and unified framework. It contains individual/participant data including individual profiles, criteria preferences (related to important of criteria), goal-related arguments, and comments on criteria.

The use of ontology for developing MC-SDSS offers some advantages over the conventional approach including the capabilities of reusing and sharing of datasets knowledge.

Furthermore, the proposed approach

WHY DO WE QUOTE?

The Culture and History of Quotation

Ruth Finnegan

OBP collection

Quoting is all around us. But do we really know what it means? How do people actually quote today, and how did our present systems come about? This book brings together a down-to-earth account of contemporary quoting with a comparative and historical background that lies behind it and the characteristic way that quoting links past and present, the far and the near. Drawing from anthropology, cultural history, folklore, cultural studies, sociolinguistics, literary studie...
